

ABSTRACT

A method is provided for reduced interference between S/CDMA channels (chips) by selecting a first sequence of spreader functions for a first channel, and selecting a second sequence of spreader functions for 5 a second channel, wherein said second sequence is non-overlapping with and spaced from first said sequence.